Students Perception of Teacher in Using English as a Monolingual: Indonesian Context Juang Kurniawan Syahrurah*, University of PGRI Yogyakarta, Indonesia Hijril Ismail, University of Muhammadiyah Mataram, Indonesia Basuki, University of Muhammadiyah Purworejo, Indonesia Abstract The intention of this study is to determine how college students understand a instructor who instructs in a monolingual form of English in an EFL study room. This have a look at involved 20 interviewees and 32 questionnaire respondents in an EFL classroom. With pre-observation, a questionnaire, and interviews as studies methods, this examine is qualitative in nature. Interviews and questionnaires are the strategies used to collect records. on this examine, triangulation is a way of records evaluation. based at the evaluation and interpretation of the records obtained from the questionnaire and interview, the results of this look at display that scholars have positive perceptions of teachers who train English as a monolingual language of their English classrooms. this is verified by the imperative tendency of ten questionnaire statements, which reaches seventy nine%, and one declaration, which reaches fifty nine% of valuable tendency. having said that, the fact that most effective one statement become a hit in shifting the principal tendency to the "impartial" stage makes it possible to categories it as a helping argument that scholars did, in reality, have a positive opinion of professors who best spoke English. Keyword: Students' Perception, Teacher, Using English, EFL, Monolingual. 1. Introduction People want conversation as it allows us to get the statistics and know-how we need to get thru every day, particularly whilst passing on our know-how to others. Because of this, conversation is important for people to percentage any form of activities of their lives with a purpose to make sharing less complicated. Language that teachers use inside the school room is an example of a necessary detail in the learning method when a trainer is turning in cloth to their college students. This verbal exchange among teachers and students ought to be clear and well understood to make certain the effectiveness of the studying technique. " The language used by the trainer is a important thing of the school room as instructor is the primary supply of understanding and coaching," (Nugrahaeni, 2018) remarked. instructor language is just the way you talk to kids. It establishes the context for a way the students will react to you. high quality student actions are strengthened and pupil attempt and paintings are endorsed by way of effective teacher language. moreover, it could resource pupils in converting their behavior and reflecting on it. For the teaching and studying manner to achieve success, it's far important for the English instructor to establish robust communicate with the scholars. verbal exchange abilities are a essential thing of your task as a instructor. absolutely everyone profits when communicate is effective. It fosters better communication, deeper understanding, and suitable interplay modeling. Interplay among the students is likewise important. They display their expertise of the language the instructor uses after they reply appropriately to what the trainer says. With a purpose to observe the lessons inside the lecture room to the fields which have been mastered, the instructor is crucial. Every trainer has a unique technique and plan for creating lessons and gaining knowledge of materials depending at the wishes in their pupils. Teaching strategies are hired to facilitate the transfer of understanding and make certain that getting to know goals are efficiently communicated. In this instance, there are three distinctive ranges of English talent

the various students: newbie, intermediate, and advanced. The level of an instructor's language talent additionally affects their behavior (Harmer, 2007). As a result of their connections, academic strategies and tactics are important. English is a language that is most effectively utilized in monolingual settings. That is part of one of the strategies a teacher makes use of to assist students research English. Learning strategies and gaining knowledge of patterns differ, in line with Nunan, Terrell, and Brown (1981). The characteristic that we wish to encourage pupils to emerge as greater seasoned language newcomers is called studying strategies. Freshmen may use specialized strategies to accumulate or improve their language abilities. Within the learning manner, the teacher is the facilitator, and the students are the teacher's intended target audience. The teacher's understanding can be transmitted to the scholars. So as for students to understand the mastering fabric the instructor provides and meet the meant learning objectives, the instructor also can explain the cloth using language that can help them. What approximately English teachers who instruct students in English each day whilst the usage of the whole English language in magnificence. Can the teacher's lesson plans be efficaciously communicated to and understood through the students. Wherein English is a foreign language that wishes to be learnt at college, how do student's sense about the academics who use full English at the same time as teaching, and might the scholars understand the cloth. Furthermore, we learned from the case that English is the language that international locations make use of the most to speak with each other and as a tool for communication. due to the fact English can sell studying sports in Indonesia and can help students in fixing instances, English is utilized in training there. that is because English is the language that countries throughout the arena use the maximum as a tool or medium for intercultural conversation. English is used in schooling in Indonesia because it may sell neighborhood gaining knowledge of sports and help students in pursuing further schooling overseas. English is regarded as a foreign language in Indonesia and is taught in faculties. the difficulty is so regularly felt. Due to the reality that perception is anyone's point of view of what he sees, understands, and accepts, whilst students are studying, they openly explicit their mind or perceptions in the direction of a trainer. a person who believes that a certain point of view or opinion approximately anything can have an impact on how they sense about themselves. someone's mind-set can be accurate or poor depending on their notion, that can have an impact at the character themselves. it's miles regular to have an opinion of a person as it complements one's angle of one's capability to apprehend and decide what could be beneficial to the ones round one. 2. Theoretical Framework 2.1 Definition of Perception according to (Hong, Ahmad, & Kuek, 2003), a person who has taken steps to determine how their mood reflects whether or not they agree or disagree with that approach or anything they know is said to have notion. The first-class on the assertion is that after a person follows a technique, it is able to offer them a reflective factor of view. This is especially real in studying classes where college students have the option of accepting or rejecting what they have already visible. Additionally, everybody has a unique attitude at the matters that stuck their attention and had an effect on their lives. Consistent with Ahmad and Aziz (2009), belief takes place whilst teachers choose up on stimuli with a specific that means in their school room putting or inside the behavior of the students. Perception is vital whilst coaching and gaining knowledge of as it helps instructors make higher selections approximately how to manage problems inside the classroom. Belief takes place after humans have processed particular sensations in their sensory memories. Nevertheless, a perception influences the information that enters running reminiscence (Sofeny, 2017). It means that belief performs a important position in someone's life and that notion creates chances for studying and movement via the senses, expertise, and enjoy. students may broaden their motivation to look at a goal language whilst they're aware of the factor of view of some thing. Inspirations are important, as we all realize, to help college students study English within the study room. according to Mc Donald in Kompri (2007, p. 73), motivation is described as an power trade in someone this is characterized via the advent of "experience" and is coupled with a reaction to existence's motive. In this situation, motivation is essential for issues which could impact people's activities. All the aforementioned comments make it clear that one's factor of view affects how people interact with each other. While a person can judge what they've encountered, a pastime that may be both favorable and negative might circuitously provide reviews, hints, motivation, or thoughts that could establish a new definition of know-how and behavior. Positive deeds can have an effect at the person themselves. Whilst a person has a terrible factor of view, their behaviors may have an impact on human beings around them. In everyday life, of path, we have interaction with others near us and be aware matters to make sure that they find out a movement made whilst us in a roundabout way view and take a look at whatever can enhance the feel of what someone is doing nearby. The valuation perspective pertains to 1's observation so that you can acquire facts which can always lead to mastering so that someone can choose the next steps. The data amassed may be ongoing and applicable to the evaluation made by the individual that has end up immersed with someone who will shape someone's perspective. The action inside the aforementioned assertion is defined as being taken after information and expressing thoughts on preceding events, accompanied by means of the utility of the experience via responding to bodily interest or with the aid of raising a person's degree of adulthood and maturing them. In comparison, (Sarkol, 2017:7) claimed that during trendy notion might be understood as a complete examination of a sure surroundings or surroundings. bodily or intellectual photos, ideas, or awareness of environmental aspects through bodily sensations which can be interpreted in revel in and know-how are all examples of this.

2.2 Definition Teacher Role

For the scholars, the teacher is a role model. An instructor's feature in training is important. The teacher must also be involved with their students' growth. Following the provisions of faith and country, lead definitely in distinctive feature. Moreover, the trainer ought to be qualified to educate and evaluate both themselves and their students. According to (Purwaningtyas, 2017), teachers, as educators, have a crucial position and a extensive responsibility to provide students with the abilities they may need within the cutting- edge global, mainly verbal exchange capabilities. It means that instructors, as educators, have a massive responsibility to provide scholars with the talents required inside the present day international, especially verbal exchange talents. This duty pertains to the difficulties and necessities of the worldwide community. Student acquisition of the learning contents substantially depends at the trainer's potential to speak at some stage in the know-how switch system. Augustina (2017 21:14) provide an explanation for that a trainer's function as a teaching consist of helping students develop their abilities and making use of them to their futures in actual existence. Teachers are one of the most vital elements influencing a scholar's educational fulfillment, in keeping with Al-Hadabi (2010). They are additionally one of the fundamental participants to a scholar's universal academic fulfillment. Instructors can assist mold their college students' ability via being aware about their person traits, mastering desires, and offering the proper opportunities to carry out the pleasant in them. The instructor is supposed to be a reputable authority in a ramification of areas, especially with regard to the learning fabric she could be presenting to the scholars. In order for the gaining knowledge of content to be introduced correctly and satisfactorily, the teacher must be able to lead or method information properly. In tries to impart information to students in colleges, teachers are the number one actors who organize, oversee, and perform getting to know activities (Pane & Darwis Dasopang, 2017). According to (Kirom, 2017) the teacher's role is seemed as dominant and is categorized as follows:

1. Using instructors as function models. Teachers should create and master the challenge rely or problem count of the learning so as to be trained.

3. Teachers acting as facilitators and mediators. Considering the fact that instructional media serves as a verbal exchange medium to decorate the effectiveness of coaching and studying, the instructor should have suitable understanding and comprehension of them. 4. The use of educators as assessors, the teacher should compare to decide whether or not the desires that have been set had been reached or not. According to the aforementioned remarks, teachers play a crucial role within the development of a rustic's destiny leaders, specifically in Indonesia, because they serve as a reliable supply of records for most people. The trainer additionally evaluates pupils' performance on learning sports. consequently, the trainer has a position in comparing the scholars to acquire the intention while the getting to know activities or pupil learning outcomes do no longer follow the goals stated through the trainer. The trainer's function as a teaching staff member and facilitator of the coaching and learning method in a category may have a giant effect on all parties, in particular students who take part in studying that will provide conversation properly. Before the teaching procedure starts, a instructor ought to have a few kind of plan in area. From that plan, the trainer may additionally decide the satisfactory manner to speak and distribute the cloth with their students. To set up wonderful relationships with their students, teachers have to be capable of talk effectively with them. 3. Method Each research has a completely unique approach that become selected based totally on the purpose of the research. The motive of this take a look at is to find out how students view their instructors' use of English as an unmarried language. The method so that it will be used on this examine is descriptive qualitative to clarify the studies subject matter and to discover how college students perceive their instructors' use of English as a single language. On the way to understand a human social trouble, qualitative studies is defined as a method of inquiry that focuses on a dynamic holistic photo, constructed from phrases, taking pictures complete viewpoints of informants and finished in an herbal putting. Now not to categorize people or companies in line with specific variables or theories for this motive. The statistics won for this investigation changed into qualitative in nature. Due to the fact the studies is conducted in a herbal environment, it's also known as naturalistic technological know-how (Nugrahaeni, 2018:29). What takes location in a specific social putting, location, or organization of people, in step with Sarkol (2016:25). There also are many distinct forms of facts, which include an outline of what the researchers be aware and pay attention, what the contributors write and say, and what the members use and convey. With a view to reply to the look act's query, the narrative from in- intensity interviews and questionnaires served as the principle supply of statistics. seeing that there are various ways to gather facts at the same time as human beings are seeing or hearing something, the studies is qualitative and makes use of information forms for wondering and interviewing junior excessive college students. College students of English might serve as the study's primary facts resources, even as junior excessive college 3 Godean in Yogyakarta would serve as the have a look at's temporary region. Statistics will be accumulated from surveys and interviews. Number one data, as described by (Iswan, 2021) inside the ebook research methodology for Quantitative and Qualitative Public members of the family, are records received from first-hand or first-hand resources on the floor. This facts supply may include respondents or test topics who provided answers to surveys, participated in interviews, and produced findings. The content material of the correspondence beneath exam serves because the studies' essential supply of information. On this observe, questionnaires and interviews are the information collection methods used. By using the use of a video call, the researcher may be in a position to speak with the respondents face-to-face and accumulate data without delay from them. A cell telephone may also be used to seize the interview's statistics. If you want to get accurate data regarding students' perceptions, the researcher additionally gave out a questionnaire to them. There were kind of ten statements general at the questionnaire. To make it easier for members to fill out the questionnaire, the writer translated it into Indonesian. Closed-ended questionnaires are used as information series tools. Ten closed-ended questions made up the questionnaire. College students' possibilities, feelings, views, and the benefits and downsides of instructors the usage of English as a monolingual were the types into which the questions were grouped (Resmini, 2019). Table 1. The Grills of Questionnaire Research Variable Factors Indicators Number of Item Students' Preferences. Discussion Table 5. Statement 1 Questionnaire and Interview Data No. Statements Central Tendency Interpretation 1 I prefer to teachers use English when teaching English process. 69% Agree I prefer that teachers utilize English while teaching English because of the Index score that the researcher obtained from the calculation, which is 69%, it can be inferred that the responder is "Agree" to the statement. The numerous respondents surveyed provide support for the data value finding. According to interview responses, respondents prefer English-speaking instructors when learning the language in class since they find it more difficult to comprehend what the instructor is saying and hence have more opportunities to practice their English. Table 6. Statement 2 Questionnaire and Interview Data No. Statements Central Tendency Interpretation 2 I understand when teachers use English in English lessons 66% Agree 9. I understand when the teacher asks questions in English 66% Agree The second questionnaire item that the researcher discovered reads, "I understand when teachers use English in English lessons," and "I understand when the teacher asks questions in English," both with a 66% response rate. The respondent's statements can be interpreted as "Agree" for both of them. The findings of the data can be supported by statements made by those who were interviewed, and many pupils stated that they comprehend when teachers utilize English in English lessons. Table 7. Statement 3 Questionnaire and Interview Data No. Statements Central Tendency Interpretation 3 I easily remember when the teacher explains the material in English 60% Agree I find it easy to recall when the teacher teaches the topic in English, according to the third statement of the questionnaire that the researcher discovered to be 60%, thus it can be said that the responder is "Agree" with this statement. The outcome of the interview can be used to support the data value's conclusion. According to the third item of the questionnaire, the majority of students remember the subject more readily when the teacher explains it in English, while some of them also attempt to comprehend and remember what the teacher said even though they must take note of the material. Table 8. Statement 4 Questionnaire and Interview Data No. Statements Central Tendency Interpretation 4. My teacher speak English while teaching. 76% Agree Another statement questionnaire data result is 76%, which indicates that the students "Agree" with the assertion that my instructor uses English in the classroom. The data value result can be supported by statements from students who were questioned. The children will learn to speak English if the teacher speaks it. Additionally, when a teacher uses English frequently, kids appreciate it and get used to it, and it also broadens their vocabulary. Additionally, they feel that English-speaking teachers are superior to those who do not utilize it. Table 9. Statement 5 Questionnaire and Interview Data No. Statements Central Tendency Interpretation 5. My teacher explain the material with English 75% Agree The respondent is "Agree" with the assertion that my teacher uses English while giving English courses, as evidenced by the statement index score of 75% that the researcher obtained from the calculation. The student interview statement can support the data value outcome. When the instructor speaks in English during English lessons, the majority of students can understand. Some of them, meanwhile, requested that the teacher translate what he was saying. Some pupils lack confidence, which causes them to feel humiliated and fear misinterpreting what the teacher is saying. Table 10. Statement 6 Questionnaire and Interview Data No. Statements Central Tendency Interpretation 6. I see the instruction 74% Agree 7. I see the command from teacher 65% Agree 8. I am happy when the teacher use English. 59% Neutral From the three results of the questionnaire, the researcher calculated that 74% of respondents agreed with the statement that their teachers always give instructions in English, 65% agreed that they understood when their teachers did so, and 59% agreed that they felt excited when their teachers did so. The respondent indicated "Agree" for both statements and "Neutral" for the final statement, according to the researcher. Values that are supported by interview data findings. According to the statements made in such questionnaires, the majority of pupils can comprehend, like, and feel enthusiastic toward the teacher when he consistently offers instructions in English. Additionally, it piques students' interest in the class and a tiny percentage of them believe they can grasp the teachers' usage of English based on the language the teacher employs. Even then, they ask the teacher if they have any questions. Table 11. Statement 7 Questionnaire and Interview Data No. Statements Central Tendency Interpretation 10. I got motivated when the teacher use english 79% Agree The researcher discovered that 79% of respondents "Agree" with the statement that "My teacher's English skills motivate me to improve my English skills," and the results of the interviews support this conclusion. Nearly all students claim that their teachers' abilities inspire them to study more about English, expand their vocabulary, get more experience, and improve their listening skills. Conclusion Based on data analysis and interpretation of the information gathered from the questionnaire and interview, the results of this study show that students have positive perceptions of teachers who teach English as a monolingual language in their English classrooms. This is demonstrated by the central tendency of ten questionnaire statements reaching 79% and one statement reaching 59% of the central tendency. Even so, the fact that only one statement was successful in moving the central tendency to the "neutral" level makes it possible to classify it as a supporting argument that students did, in fact, have a favorable opinion of professors who only spoke English. The use of English as a monolingual language by teachers has seven additional advantages for students learning the language, including: making it simple for them to comprehend what the teacher is explaining in English lessons; students feeling enjoyable and becoming accustomed to listening to English; increasing their vocabulary; stimulating their curiosity; and motivating them to learn English.
